3 Draw an outline over the shape of the raindrop and erase the sketch marks.

4 Fill and paint over the shape with white.

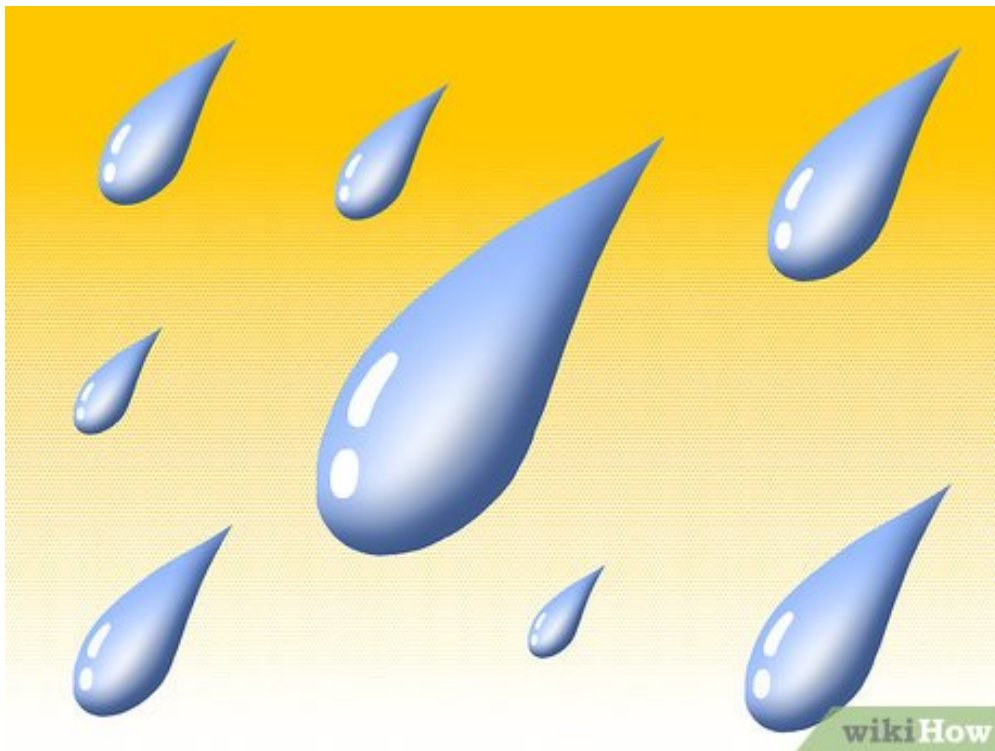

5 Paint a light blue gradient over the shape as shown in the image.

6 Paint a darker shade of blue over the shape as shown in the image.

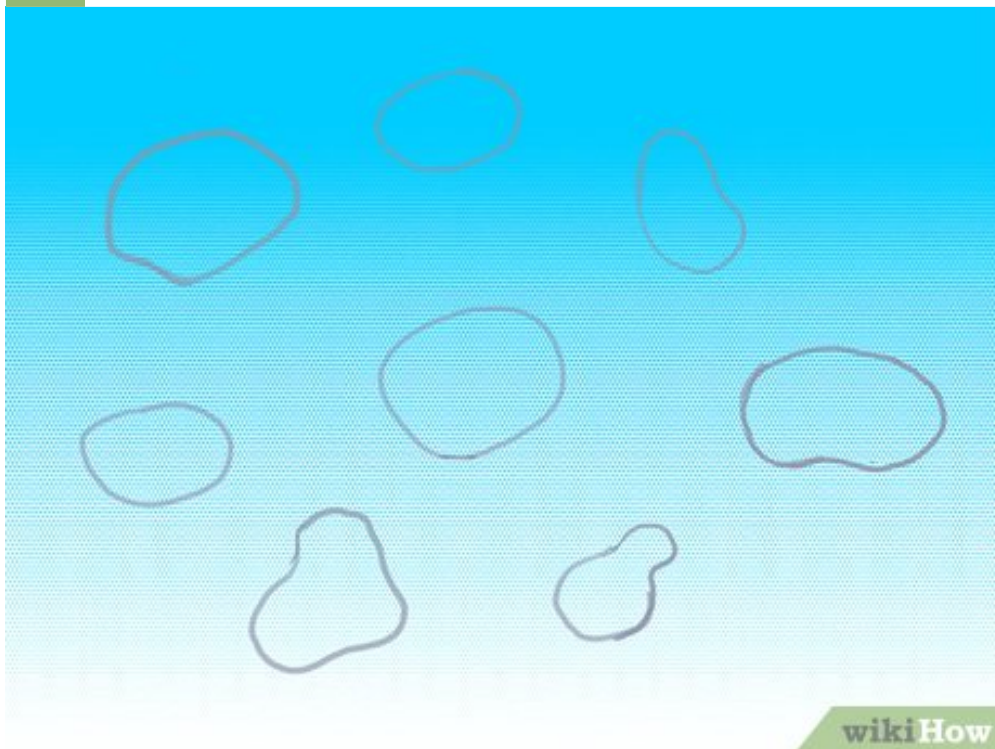

7 Add a white highlight on the raindrop to complete a 3-dimensional effect.

8 Repeat the entire process to draw other raindrops as well.

Community Q&A

Question

How do I draw falling rain in black and white for my cartoon?

Community Answer

If you draw thin, light, irregularly spaced, diagonal, dashed lines, they will look like rain. If you have room, adding some clouds above will help people recognize the rain even more. Good luck!

Question

How do I draw it without paint?

Community Answer

If you don't want to use paint, you can use crayons, colored pencils, markers, pastels, or any other medium you prefer.

Question

How do I draw a tear drop that dropped on paper?

Community Answer

Use your HB pencil to sketch irregular shapes, then use it to shade in. Remember to use small, controlled, circular strokes! Use a 4B to create an outline and then use a white charcoal pencil to add highlights, or use a kneaded eraser to lift up some of the value.
